

About Us

RPC Industries, Inc. has been located in Hampton Roads, Virginia and has been focused on exceeding our clients expectations since 1979. We are expert industrial and commercial contractors specializing in roofing and insulation, asbestos and lead abatement, metal siding and roofing panels, and a wide spectrum of applications with sprayed polyurethane foam.

JACKCRETE, a division of RPC Industries, Inc., specializes in commercial, municipal and residential Polyurethane Foam concrete lifting, leveling and stabilization. Our non-disruptive procedure typically takes less than half a day, is cured and ready for vehicle traffic in just 15 minutes, and typically costs half that of concrete replacement.

Our commitment to safety and quality has made us the chosen contractor for some of the most demanding corporate clients in America and at some of the most secure government facilities. Experienced personnel are the key to our safety, quality and productivity standards. Our experience in each of these fields is counted by the millions of square feet of successful projects.

We specialize in solutions to your problems without interrupting your operations.
